The Bloodless Revolution

By Josephine Powell Beatty, in Task Force, Dec. 1963

We in the United States have lost more personal liberty in the last 40 years than in all the previous history of our country.

We have lost it in a carefully planned bloodless revolution carried out by means of propaganda towards the goal of a highly-centralized government that would regulate the lives of its citizens in every detail.

The federal government had to have vast sums of money at its disposal to accomplish this end — hence the progressive income tax and other well-nigh confiscatory measures.

To justify the mounting taxes a threat of war had constantly to be kept alive and our sons drafted in peacetime to become hostages and pawns for the costly and disastrous maneuvers of our government all over the globe.

But the taking of private property and the impressment of young Americans was not enough. So the second phase began. For this spade work had long been done through propaganda in our schools and churches, the radio and television and the press and the large, so-called "educational" foundations.

Conformity of thought is the goal, a conformity that frowns upon a man's loyalty to his state, his church, his race, and his social group. A carefully-planned Supreme Court is leading the way, attempting, for the first time in history, to legislate emotions, sentiments, and loyalties.

The bloodless revolution is almost accomplished. God help America if she can not find a leader to alert us to our danger, and show us how to throw off the tentacles of this octopus of government, so that, before it is too late, we may regain the status of free men.

Letters to Editor

Re Editorial Above

Editor The Star: I thought so much of the ideas expressed in the enclosed article (above) that I made a copy for you. As there has been a black-out in the local papers regarding your project I do not know of its present status. But I am willing to wager that, regardless how many citizens there are who do not want this government handout, Hope will get it just the same.

The planners will brook no interference.

Editor The Star: Congratulations on your fight to keep from being smothered by "The Great White Father" in Washington. Through your efforts your little city has received more favorable publicity nationally than you could have purchased for many thousands of dollars. I think any business looking for a location in your region would certainly look at Hope, Ark.

However, the name of Hope, Ark., has brought pleasant memories to me for almost 50 years. In July, 1916, I was on a troop train, bound for the Mexican border, that stopped in your city for a short while. Our train was on a siding next to a street, and a farm wagon loaded with some of the finest peaches I had ever seen came by and the boys in the coaches began yelling for

U.S. Hits Moon But Cameras Fail to Work

By DIAL TORGERSON

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Space scientists sifted through coded tapes today in a search for the reason why spacecraft Ranger 6 plunged into the moon with its cameras blind to the wonders of the lunar landscape.

The agonizing end to a 66-hour flight came at 1:24 a.m. (PST) Sunday when Ranger 6 reached its historic rendezvous — and six television cameras aboard wouldn't function.

Laboratory directors went ahead with plans for Ranger 7's flight — an identical photo mission — pointing out that the Ranger series is designed to gather information needed for manned U.S. landings planned later this decade.

The fruitless journey of Ranger 6 was the sixth straight failure in the Ranger program. The cost to date: $168 million—figures at $28 million a shot.

Ranger 6 was the first of the costly spacecraft to complete the difficult moon-approach maneuver faultlessly—which made the blind crash even more frustrating for its designers.

The camera system was considered one of the simplest mechanisms on the 804-pound spacecraft.

It was turned on by a command flashed from the ground. There was also an automatic timer aboard to do the job. Ranger radioed back word that the order had been received at 1:09 a.m. (PST), as it was nearing the end of a 5,000 m.p.h. plus plunge toward the moon's Sea of Tranquility.

Newsmen and engineers gathered in a big room at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory listened to the tone of Ranger's radio. Continued on Page Two

Bruner Ivory Wins in Big Damage Suit

A $165,000 suit was filed last summer against Bruner Ivory Handle Co. at Fairfield, Texas, by James A. Bostick, a logger, who was seriously injured in cutting a log, that was being cut for a mill operated by V. J. Sparks, who in turn was selling a portion of his output to Bruner Ivory.

Bostick was represented by Hill, Brown, Krammer, Abraham, Watkins & Stealy, of Houston, a firm who specializes in damage suit cases. Bruner Ivory was represented by Dawson & Dawson, of Corsicana and Hugh D. Reed, Jr. of Fairfield.

The plaintiffs' attorneys claimed that inasmuch as Bruner Ivory had assisted Sparks financially in the operation of his mill that Sparks was an employee of Bruner Ivory rather than an independent contractor. Bostick was hiring his own help, delivering his logs on his own truck, but the attorneys tried to make him an employee of Sparks or of the joint venture of Bruner-Ivory Sparks.

The case was in court five days last week, and was finally given to the jury at 2:00 p.m. Friday afternoon. After three hours deliberation they returned their verdict which was:

That Sparks was an independent Contractor, not an employee of Bruner Ivory.

That Bostick was an independent Contractor, not an employee of Bruner Ivory or Sparks.

That the sole cause of the accident was the manner in which Bostick fell the tree, throwing it on a nearby leaning tree that kicked the tree being cut back, seriously injuring Bostick.

That Bruner Ivory Handle Company was not responsible, and no damage were awarded.

Hope Man Is One Hired by Rockefeller

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Pulaski County Republican chairman called today for William Spicer of Fort Smith to resign as state GOP chairman because of his attacks on Winthrop Rockefeller.

Dr. Wayne Babbitt, the Pulaski chairman, said Spicer had distorted Rockefeller's purposes. Spicer sharply criticized Rockefeller over the weekend because of Rockefeller's hiring of four field workers to battle for the GOP in the 1964 general election campaign.

Spicer called the move a crash program "on behalf of Nelson and Winthrop" Rockefeller.

Spicer has declared himself a backer of Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and is leading a faction of Arkansas Republicans who don't want to see Winthrop's brother, Nelson, nominated for the presidency at the national convention this summer.

"I am at a loss to understand Mr. Spicer's remarks or his motives," Babbitt said. "I cannot help noting that during the last two years every time some constructive effort has been made to build a two-party system in this state, that it has been at Mr. Rockefeller's initiative, and every time Mr. Spicer has objected."

Babbitt said the four men hired by Rockefeller "have been instructed to avoid all issues relating to national party politics" and to stick to building the state GOP.

Babbitt said Spicer "has been" Continued on Page Two

13 Violent Deaths in Arkansas

A Walnut Ridge man died Sunday when his car plunged off a 30-foot embankment into the Black River near Powhatan and a Fort Smith man was killed when his auto rammed into a gate house at an entrance to Ft. Chaffee.

Lawrence County Sheriff Kenneth Guthrie said a car driven by Jimmie Earl MacMullen, 33, plunged into the river at a point where a road curved sharply. Divers found MacMullen's body in 15 - 20 feet of water, in the back of the car.

Joe Bright, 29, died when his car swung off state Highway 22 and hit the stone gate house. Bright was a civilian employee at the Army post. An unidentified military policeman in the house was shaken up, but not hurt.

The two deaths Sunday brought to 13 the total of violent deaths in the state for the week ended at midnight Sunday.

Five persons were killed in traffic accidents, two were shot to death, two died when cars they were working beneath fell on them, one died in a fire, one was killed by an explosion, one drowned and one was killed when the mule he was riding was hit by a train.

Rights Issue Backers Test Strength

By JOHN BECKLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bipartisan forces backing the civil rights bill test their strength today as the House starts considering amendments to the measure.

Both sides have been talking since debate opened Friday. Now it's time for voting, with the rest of the week being set aside to work on proposed changes in the 10-part bill.

President Johnson and Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., have predicted the bill will come through the process without being seriously weakened.

That there will be plenty of amendments offered was made clear during the two days of general debate. Southerners are unhappy with every provision and members from other parts of the country have doubts about some of them.

The heaviest fire will undoubtedly be directed at proposals banning racial discrimination in employment, public accommodations and federally aided programs. But the various sections will be open to amendment in the order in which they appear in the bill, which brings the one dealing with voting rights first under attack.

This provision, mainly amending existing laws, is designed to speed up court action on voting cases and to ensure that any voter qualification standards are applied equally to whites and Negroes.

Southerners say the area of voting qualifications belongs solely to the states. They plan to offer an amendment clearly limiting the proposal to federal elections.

House leaders have promised that a final vote will come by Feb. 11. But Republicans, anxious to leave town this weekend to start Lincoln Day speech-making, hope it can be disposed of by Friday or Saturday. After that it goes to the Senate, where a Southern filibuster is expected to greet any effort to bring it to a vote.

10 Killed in Crash of Airliner

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A South Central Airline twin engine passenger plane burst into flames immediately after takeoff today and crashed, killing at least 10 persons.

The Beechcraft plane was Flight 510 which originated in Ocala and was en route to Jacksonville.

D. M. Carroll, a city employee, said:

"It looked like the plane was about 200 feet high. The left-hand motor cut off and the engine made a whining sound. The plane turned on its left side, just like a plane circles an airport when it's way up in the air. Then it hit the runway and exploded and burst into flames."

The Federal Aviation Administration in Miami said there were 10 persons aboard the plane.

South Central serves small cities in Florida, Georgia and the Carolinas. It has a fleet of eight of the twin-engine Beechcrafts.

Negroes Stage Boycott of New York Schools

By JUNIUS GRIFFIN

NEW YORK (AP) — Thousands of Negro and Puerto Rican children, joined by many white sympathizers, boycotted the nation's largest public school system today demanding total integration.

A spokesman for the one-day protest movement estimated that 262,000 pupils participated—about 65 per cent of the Puerto Ricans and Negroes among the one million pupils in New York City schools.

But the city's 850 schools remained open in the face of the demonstration — even those in institutions with high absenteeism and some teachers marching in the civil rights picket lines.

Shortly after class bells rang, authorities reported only about 2,700 pickets outside 300 schools. This was far short of the 8,000 pickets the demonstration leaders had anticipated.

A spot check by the Board of Education at 27 schools showed pupil absenteeism running from none to more than one-third.

Normal daily absenteeism is about 100,000.

The demonstration started throughout the city without violence. About 2,000 policemen were assigned to schools and another 6,000 were ready for duty if needed.

The boycott and picketing dramatized minority group dissatisfaction with the Board of Education's plan for coping with school racial imbalances resulting from living patterns. Sponsors of the protest declared that the board's intention to start busing children from one neighborhood school to another Continued on Page Two

Amendments to Test Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate gets down to business today on the tax cut bill with a fight over a college education amendment expected to provide the first major test.

Debate on the top priority $11.6 - billion administration measure began Thursday, but only a few speeches have been made on it so far.

However, Senate leaders put their colleagues on notice that there would be long sessions all this week in an attempt to pass the measure by Saturday and send it to conference with the House.

Democratic leaders held some hope of finishing by Thursday night.

It appeared likely that there would be only five or six major floor battles on the bill and that these would not involve the most important provisions.

A proposal by Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., to allow a tax break on college education costs is up for debate today, with a vote expected Tuesday.

Ribicoff's amendment would allow tax savings of up to $325 a year for each student that a next fall is not far-reaching enough.

The Board of Education called the one-day boycott a "lawless course of action" and urged all pupils and teachers to be at school.

The Rev. Dr. Milton A. Galmison, leader of the demonstration, warned that the boycott will be repeated "as often as necessary" and may be climaxed with a "sustained boycott of indefinite duration if the Board of Education does not budge from its position."

James B. Donovan, president of the board, said he would not "yield one inch to pressure" and warned he would hold Galmison "personally and criminally responsible" if any children are injured during the demonstration.

Donovan said he would take this action because "the Rev. Galmison repeatedly made allusions that possible violence could result during the boycott."

Galmison said leaders of the boycott do not expect violence because demonstrators have been "disciplined" but added: "There may be others motivated by hysteria who would deliberately precipitate trouble."

The school board's integration plan, offered as a first step, would improve the racial balance in about 30 of 165 predominantly Negro or Puerto Rican schools by "pairing" them with adjacent schools under the Princeton Plan. Pupils in the lower grades would go to one of the pair; upper grades to the other.

New York's schools are integrated by law. But housing patterns have led to predominately Negro or Puerto Rican enrollments in about a fifth of the schools.

Boycott leaders say their primary goal is to empty 165 "ghetto schools."

Their secondary goal is to keep students out of the city's 100 other schools that have Negro and Puerto Rican enrollments of 50 per cent or more.

Another demand is for a Negro and a Puerto Rican to be named to the Board of Education. The board has a Negro member, Dr. Aaron Brown, 58, who was appointed in 1962.

He defended the board's plan for integration, saying it "was a good and honest effort made by members of the board to cope with a complicated situation."

Donovan arranged the return of American U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers from Soviet captivity in a spy swap and negotiated the release of 1,113 Cuban Bay of Pigs invasion prisoners.

Then — when the five-minute warm-up period was over—the emotionless voice of a project engineer announced the first sign that all was not well:

"There is no indication of full video power."

Then, for a tense 600 seconds, the hushed crowd listened to the tone of Ranger's death song, and the engineer's words that it was unavailing:

"Seven minutes to impact — still no video."

"Six minutes to impact—still waiting for video power."

"Five minutes to impact... three minutes—no video."

"One minute to impact — no indication of full power."

And then:

"Five seconds — four—Three—two—one."

Suddenly the musical radio tone ceased.

"Impact! Impact!"

And then:

"No video."

A check of Ranger's radioed messages showed no sign of the Code which, run through a computer, would have produced earth's first closeup pictures of the moon. Russia's Lunik 3 photographed the back side of the moon, but from a distance of more than 4,000 miles.

In the world's big observatories, astronomers watched the moon at impact time to see if the crash would produce a flash of light or a puff of moon dust visible from earth.

There was only one report of a possible sighting. At Lowell Observatory in Flagstaff, Ariz., Dr. Karl Rakas, watching with a 21-inch reflector, said he saw a flash of light 50 or 60 miles from the point of impact 90 seconds prior to the impact time.

Fingerprint Linked to De La Beckwith

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A fingerprint expert told the jury today he found one of Byron De La Beckwith's fingerprints on a telescopic sight mounted on the rifle which police say was used in a racial slaying.

Beckwith, 43, of Greenwood, Miss., was accused of murder in the slaying of Medgar Evers, a Negro civil rights leader, shot in the back by a sniper with a high-powered rifle.

Police Capt. Ralph Hargrove, 43, detailed the careful handling and examination of the rifle after it was found at the scene.

Dist. Atty. William L. Waller, 37, spent the first two days of testimony from 19 witnesses detailing the shooting and attempting to show that Beckwith acquired in a 1960 swap, the .30-caliber rifle found by police.

Evers, 37, was state field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and active in integration work. He was shot when he stepped from his car at his Jackson home shortly after midnight last June 12.

Dead 20 Minutes, Man Is Revived

BOONEVILLE, Ark. (AP) —

Dr. Bruce E. Pacundus, who restored the heartbeat of Clarence W. Elder after the man had apparently been dead for more than 20 minutes, said today his patient was showing more improvement.

Pacundus performed the open-chest heart massage to bring back the heartbeat last Tuesday.

Elder, 57, was reported in a semi-conscious condition.

Pacundus said a Clarence Elder fund had been set up at Citizens Bank in Booneville to pay for extensive care that Elder would need over a long period.

The physician has not been able to determine how much, if any, Elder would have. Pacundus said the brain can deteriorate after five or six minutes without oxygen.

"He should resign as state chairman and devote himself to such partisan pursuits," Babbitt said. "I am fed up with Mr. Spicer's obstructionism."

Rockefeller announced the hiring of the four men Saturday. He said the GOP has never had a better chance in Arkansas than this year.

Spicer said anyone who didn't see the hirings as a move to gain support for the two men "is not realizing and admitting the political facts of life."

Defending the hirings was James S. Grimes of Jonesboro, state GOP executive committee.

Filing for the Republican senatorial nomination was Congressman-at-large Robert Taft Jr., a former state representative and a grandson of President William Howard Taft.

Living Cost Not Following Winter Rules

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The cost of living isn't following the rules this winter. It has risen to a new high at a time when it wasn't supposed to, on the basis of past average behavior.

And rising prices in some basic materials pose a further worry along the same line. A chance of any drop in the index is even more unlikely than usual.

Consumers haven't been happy about any of this. And now the statisticians are a bit perturbed, although putting most of the blame on the weather. They still hold to the belief that the rise in the cost of living will continue to be gradual rather than picking up much steam and causing a marked flurry of inflation.

In some lines, workers have been helped in meeting higher living costs by a rise in their take-home pay. And Congress is talking about increasing the take-home pay for countless others by passing a federal tax cut bill by the end of next month.

What pushed the cost of living to a new high in December of 107.6 per cent of the 1957-59 base period was largely the damage to winter crops by unusual freezes in the South, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reports. But also rising from the November figures were housing, personal care and reading and recreation.

Only twice before in the last 10 years had the December index topped the November figure. And the January index is expected to stay around the record high.

Biggest increases last year came in June, July, November and December. The year-end figure of 107.6 compared with 105.9 in December 1962. Every component of the index had risen during the year, with services showing the biggest gains.

Consumers are used to food prices varying with the seasons and with the violence or benevolence of the weather. They also have become used to services rising steadily in recent years.

What's worrying them now is whether prices of basic goods will start rising again after a period of near stability. Most such goods are in adequate supply, and most producers have plenty of capacity—some of it idle—to turn out more goods if demand requires. All this helps hold prices down on a competitive basis.

But if economic growth takes off as some predict, the excess capacity can disappear. Demand then could rise faster than supply. It has happened before in periods of increasing prosperity.

Right now many people are helped by higher incomes. These come from longer work weeks and higher hourly earnings, from increased interest paid on savings, from larger dividend payments, from higher wage scales.

But for most folk the long battle between the pay check and the cost of living hasn't been licked yet.

Revenue a Record

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas paid the Internal Revenue Service a record $336,942,098—or about $189 for every man, woman and child, during 1963—an increase of 12.5 per cent from 1962.

HOW TO TREAT A PARAMOUR

By Helen Worden Erskine

work out their own destiny. To call her a paramour is as old-fashioned as your thinking. What right have you or other wives to sit in judgment?

I suspect you and they see in this poor, misguided young girl the symbol of a type which possess a threat to all women who ear themselves incapable of giving their husbands the kind of love men need.

Treat your little sister-in-law as you should any other member of your husband's family—with affection and understanding. Coffee and cake does not put your stamp of approval upon her actions. What she does can't possibly effect your marriage unless you make the liaison an issue between you and your husband. Send a self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "A Happy Marriage."

Dear Helen: Has a mother the right to expect help around the house from a schoolteacher daughter who lives at home and pays no board? I've always been against charging my children for their board but believe me I'm fast becoming tempted to do just that to this daughter of mine. —Tired Mother.

Dear Tired: Tell your daughter fair is fair. She should either pay for her room and board or give the equivalent by helping with the housework. Be firm for her good, as well as yours.

Dear Helen: We are two teens worried about a close friend. We like boys as much as she but, being only 13, conduct ourselves accordingly. She and one of the boys she dates neck in movie theaters. She used to be popular but no more! However, we stick to her like good friends though not approving. Should we tell her so? —Two Worried Friends.

Dear Friends: Don't trouble trouble until trouble troubles you. Unless your girl friend asks for your opinion, say nothing. The best way to help her is by being little ladies yourselves.

Six Added to Baseball's Hall of Fame

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The spitball is legal in the Hall of Fame even if it is out of bounds in organized baseball. Burleigh Grimes and Urban (Red) Faber, two of the last pitchers to throw the spitball legally, were among the six new members named Sunday by the Hall of Fame veterans' committee.

Miller Huggins, the little man who managed the New York Yankees to six pennants in 12 years, and Heinie Manush, the powerful outfielder with a lifetime .330 batting average, also made the grade along with two from the pre-1900 era—John Montgomery Ward and Tim Keefe. Grimes, Faber and Manush are alive.

In some ways Ward was the most remarkable of the group. A jack-of-all-trades as a player, Ward was the only man to collect more than 2,000 hits, 2,151, and also to win more than 100 games, 158, as a pitcher. Ward, active from 1878 to 1894, managed three clubs, acted as president of the Boston Braves, pitched a perfect game for Providence in 1880, organized the Players' Brotherhood and also was the lawyer for the National League.

Ward also set a record of 12 assists for a second baseman that still is in the book. The addition of the six new men boosted the total membership in the Cooperstown, N.Y., museum to an even 100. The new members were picked by the veterans' committee from players who had been retired at last 20 years.

Grimes, 70, and Faber, 75, were among the group of four pitchers permitted to continue use of the spitball after it was legislated off the book. Grimes actually was the last. He was active until 1934, retiring with a 270-212 won-lost record. Although he finished up with the Yankees, Grimes earned all but one of his victories in the National League at Pittsburgh, Brooklyn, New York, Boston, New York City where they will board a ship for Germany. Sgt. Weston will be stationed with the 94th Field Artillery Division.

St. Louis and Chicago. He lives in Trenton, Mo.

THE STORY: Maggie and Duffey have taken Chet Covall's widow, Gail, to Maggie's place following Covall's death at the rodeo.

XIII

Like Maggie, Dr. Sanders had not been able to believe I had rolled from a speeding car and come off so lightly.

The next morning I was bound tight in bandages. My right arm had been left free, but it didn't care much. I could tell by the unpleasant feathering in my mouth that I had been given a sedative. There were shaving things laid out, a toothbrush and a comb. I did the best I could, left-handed.

In the bedroom there were gray slacks, white shirt, and socks laid out. They weren't mine, but they were reasonably close to my size, and I was grateful not to have to slip into my cowboy masquerade. There were still my boots in lieu of shoes, but, oddly enough, they built for comfort.

It was a little before seven when I wandered outside and found Herbert's birds.

In the little time I had talked to Herbert only small birds had been mentioned. But here, among the tall trees it was the pheasants that caught my eye.

Germain's peacock, the size of a bantam, a smoky gray with a hundred golden eyes, as dainty as a ballerina; the first bronze-tailed Chalcid I had ever seen, a jungle lover out of Malaya.

The voice at my shoulder said, "Nothing should be so beautiful, that's what you're thinking."

I nodded my head, not speaking, savoring the richness of the morning. Gail sat down beside me.

Finally, I said, "Dad had some pheasants, not many. They weren't his specialty. But sometimes I asked the same question you just suggested."

"Why stack the cards against a bird? Why give him the kind of glory that's sure to put him in the eye of the hawk and the hunter? Why give him flesh that makes him fit for the table of a king?"

"Would you rather be a sparrow?"

"Before you get to the happiness bit," I said, "you better

No Place Like Home, Bobcats Beat Crossett

By CARTER HARDAGE
Hope Star Sportswriter

"There's no place like home" seemed to be the motto of the Bobcats Saturday night as they clipped the Crossett Eagles 86-71 in Jones Field House, and moved their District record to 3-3. The Kittens suffered their first loss of the year by 35-24.

The dark corners of the record book disclose the fact that the Bobcats have yet to lose a game on the home hardwood. They have dropped three out of four conference games on the road.

The Cats went into a zone defense for a switch from the regular, and firing, full court press. After the Eagles popped a few quick points, Hope came gunning back to lead at the end of the First Quarter by the score of 23-14.

Continuing to widen the gap, the Cats found themselves in a 45-27 advantage at the halfway mark. Allowing the Eagles to come back slightly in the initial play of the Third Quarter, Hope took back a portion of the tallies to lead 64-53. That was as close as Crossett got.

Heading the list of high scorers was Johnnie Honeycutt with a total of 30 to his credit. Dan Jones followed closely with 28, Jerry Burnett had 15, Paul Henley 7, and Bill Reinhardt 6. Bill Meadows led Crossett with 24.

The Junior Boys suffered from a disease all coaches dread: non-ability to score. After the end of the First Half, they trailed 18-8. In the second period they didn't sack a single field goal.

They came back strong in the final minutes, although the closest they could come to a comeback was from 7 points in the rear. The Juniors still command top rung of the District record with their almost perfect 5-1 mark.

Scoring for the Kittens: Mike Westbrook 7, Stannie Parris 6, Dennis Turner 4, Danny Wilson 3, and Richard Sallee and Larry Don Wright with 2 each.

Games for this week include Senior Girls and Boys at Ashdown, and the long awaited Senior match with Malvern on Saturday. The Junior Boys also play that night.

Jacobs Beats Out Aging J. Demaret

By CHARLES MAHER
Associated Press Sports Writer

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Tommy Jacobs is getting a little bolder and Jimmy Demaret is getting a little older. Which is not only a rhyme but a reason the $50,000 Palm Springs Golf Classic turned out the way it did.

Jacobs won it, beating Demaret on the second hole of a sudden-death playoff Sunday after they finished the regulation 90 holes in 353 strokes each, seven under par.

Demaret, 53, offered this wry salute to his 28-year-old adversary:

"Tommy's a good boy and it was nice he could win it. After all, I've got a lot of years left and he's about through."

Demaret, who hasn't won a PGA tournament in nearly seven years, admitted the 90-hole exercise left him slightly exhausted. In the playoff, he gave away 25 years.

Jacobs, who has a home at nearby Bermuda Dunes Country Club, won the playoff with a nine-inch putt for a par three on the 92nd hole. Demaret, whose drive left him about 40 feet to the left of the green, was lying three when Jacobs holed out.

That ended a tournament that

Hawks Beat the Lakers by 107-105

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A Hollywood script writer couldn't have improved on Sunday afternoon's National Basketball Association dramatics. The day's three-act tableau promised plenty of action before it opened, matching contenders in the league's Eastern and Western divisions in "position play." When the final curtain fell nobody was disappointed. The cast came up with climactic fireworks in each episode.

The plot went something like this: Act I. Scene: St. Louis—The Hawks, 11 points down late in the first half, overtake crippled Los Angeles in the third period, drop behind again then come back a second time to win, 107-105, and drop the Lakers from first to third in the West.

Act II. Scene: Baltimore—San Francisco, forced into overtime by an 8-1 Baltimore Bullets closing burst, fires back in the extra period for a 120-118 victory and grabs the Western lead, three percentage points ahead of St. Louis and a half-game up on Los Angeles.

Act III. Scene: Boston—Oscar Robertson scores 48 points and Jerry Lucas flips in a pair of free throws with 11 seconds left in another overtime thriller as Cincinnati nips the Celtics, 119-117, and cuts Boston's Eastern margin to three games.

In all, only six points separated the winners from the losers after 64 minutes of play.

The Lakers lost their fifth straight game with a broken thumb since Jerry West was last Sunday. Two buckets by Bill Bridges put the Hawks ahead to stay with 5:21 remaining. Richie Guerin and Len Wilkins led St. Louis with 22 points apiece.

Saturday Boston defeated Philadelphia 119-111; San Francisco outscored New York 125-106; St. Louis whipped Los Angeles, 113-96, and Detroit edged Baltimore, 112-111.

Could Be Painful for U.S. in Tokyo

BOSTON (AP)—If the Boston A.A. Games is any indication, it could be a painful autumn in Tokyo for the United States.

The meet's record-setting performers—Wendell Motley, Noel Carroll and Tom O'Riordan—will bear the colors of their lands to the 1964 Olympics.

Canadian middle distance ace Bill Crothers, a heavy favorite in the 1,000, disappointed the crowd when foul weather prevented his appearance at Boston Garden Saturday night.

And the old reliable among American c'tizens, hurdler Hayes Jones, announced his retirement right after the Olympics "whether I make the team or not."

Motley, Yale captain from Port au Spain, Trinidad, ran the fastest quarter mile ever indoors with a 48.0 clocking which eclipsed the 22-year-old former standard of 48.2. The man voted the outstanding athlete in the meet had run—and won—a 600-yard race in a dual meet against Dartmouth only a few hours earlier.

Carroll, a native of Ireland, ran a brilliant 1:48.7 anchor half-mile and pushed Villanova to an all-time indoor two-mile relay mark of 7:26.4. The previous accepted standard by Kansas was 7:30.8.

Irishman O'Riordan lowered the meet two-mile mark to 8:48.6 as he warded off again Pete McArdle in a fine race.

Jones won his 50th straight indoor hurdles victory, then said produced so many ties someone suggested it should be renamed the Wembley Open.

There was a tie after every round. It was Charlie Sifford and Jacobs after the first round, Sifford and Doug Sanders after the second round and Sifford and Bob Charles after the third round. Bill Casper and Chuck Courtney were tied going into the fifth round and Jacobs and Demaret, of course, were tied after 90 holes.

Jacobs got $7,500 of the $50,000 purse. Demaret, who plays only five or six tournaments a year, won $4,000.

Charles and Don January finished in a third-place tie at 354, one shot behind Demaret and Jacobs, and got $3,100 each.

Courtney and Bob Goalyby were another stroke back and picked up $2,450 apiece.

Jean Saubert Takes Second Medal for U.S.

By TED SMITS

Associated Press Sports Editor

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—Plucky Jean Saubert of Lakeview, Ore., added a silver medal to her earlier bronze with a flashing run in the women's giant slalom ski race and young Yank figure skaters got off to a strong start Monday in the United States' brightest day in the ninth Winter Olympic Games.

Miss Saubert, 21-year-old Oregon State coed, broke the monopoly of France's brilliant Alpine sister team by tying Christine Goetschel for second—a fraction of a second behind Christine's sister, Marielle, the gold medalist.

The winning time was 1 minute, 52.24 seconds. Jean and Marielle did 1:53.11.

Jean's two medals are the only ones collected so far by the U.S. team. The Soviet Union, on the other hand, is making a team runaway of the Games, with a total of 15—six gold five silver and four bronze.

The Russians picked up another silver in the Nordic combined, the only other final of the day, with the gold going to Tormad Knutsen, a 32-year-old Norwegian clerk who had been thought too old for such a rigorous skiing test.

Knutsen sped the 9.3 miles of the crosscountry in 50 minutes, 58.6 seconds for 469.20 points.

John Bower of Auburn, Maine, had the ninth best cross-country time with 52:26.4 but finished 15th in the final combined standings with 403.76 points.

Jim Shea was 27th with 346.76 points, after racing the cross-country in 53:04.2. The third U.S. entry, Jim Page of Lake Placid, N.Y., scratched because of an attack of influenza.

In the start of the men's figure skating competition at the Ice Stadium, Scotty Allen, the 15-year-old schoolboy national champion from Smoke, Rise, N.J. shot into fourth place in the first two of five compulsory figures. The final three will be skated Tuesday.

Monty Hoyt of Denver, former U.S. champion, was ninth and Tommy Litz of Hershey, Pa., who shines in free skating, was 15th.

Manfred Schnelldorfer of Germany assumed the lead with 363.0 points.

Hoyt's score was 321.6 and Litz had a total of 306.3. Four of Russia's gold medals—a record number for one competitor at the Winter Olympics—belonged to one person.

The proud owner is a dimpled blonde speed skater, 24-year-old Lidia Skoblikova.

She completed her feat Sunday by winning the 3,000-meters race after being victorious at the other three distances. Because of the thaw, water squirted from her blades as she skated across the finish.

Valentina Stenina, Lidia's teammate, and Han Pil Haw of North Korea shared second place. Each received a silver medal.

Another ice queen, 22-year-old Sjoukje Dijkstra of Holland, added the Olympic gold medal for figure skating Sunday night to the two world crowns she won in 1962 and 1963.

Regine Heitzer of Austria was second, barely ahead of Petra Burka of Canada.

Eero Maenymata, 26-year-old Finnish customs official from above the arctic circle, earlier captured his second cross-country skiing gold medal. He took the 15 kilometers after previously winning the 30 kilometers.

His victory brought Finland's total of medals to five, second only to Russia.

Harald Groenningen of Norway was second in the 15 kilometers and Sixteen Jernberg of Sweden third.

In the lone Alpine event, Francois Bonlieu, 27-year-old mountain guide from Chamonix, France, captured the men's giant slalom. France is third in the medal race with four.

Karl Schranz took the lead in the standings for the Alpine combined world championship, being awarded for the first time by the International Ski Federation on the basis of Olympic performance.

Of Top Teams Only UCLA Unbeaten

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

Adolph Rupp doesn't much care for cramped old Woodruff Hall in Athens, Ga. Never did. At least not since Feb. 13, 1931.

That's the day he lost his first game as head coach of the Kentucky basketball team. It was at Woodruff Hall. And home-standing Georgia, then as now, was a defensive club. Georgia won, 25-16.

Chances are that the score will be higher than that tonight when Rupp again takes his Wildcats into Woodruff Hall—he once vowed he never would again—but it's likely to be a test of Georgia's defense.

Rupp will be seeking his 700th victory as the Kentucky coach and the Wildcats, ranked fourth in the nation, will be gunning for the Southeastern Conference lead. They share the spot with idle Louisiana State, each at 5-2. Georgia, currently one of the hottest teams in the league, is 4-2.

"We've had the defense all along," Georgia Coach Red Lawson said. "If only our shooters could get hot."

They did Saturday, knocking Tennessee out of the league lead 79-67. Kentucky, at the same time, beat Florida 77-72, running its season record to 15-2. It was the Wildcats' fifth straight in the league after two opening road losses.

The game is one of three involving nationally ranked teams tonight. The others have second-ranked Michigan at Ohio State in an important Big Ten struggle and No. 5 Vanderbilt at Alabama.

Kentucky and Michigan won their only games last week, but Vanderbilt put its high standing in jeopardy with an 81-63 defeat by Auburn. Michigan, 15-1, romped over Michigan State 95-79.

Davidson and DePaul were the only other members of the elite to stumble last week. Davidson, No. 3, was edged by West Virginia 75-73 before rebounding against VMI 129-91 Saturday. DePaul, No. 9, lost to Louisville 83-79 Saturday.

It was the first loss for each and left only top-ranked UCLA the major college unbeaten. UCLA, now 17-0, rolled along with two victories over California Santa Barbara, 107-76 and 87-59.

In other Saturday games involving the top ten, No. 6 Villanova took high-scoring Detroit 79-70, No. 7 Wichita blasted Marquette 100-63 and Chicago Loyola, bouncing back after dipping to No. 10, beat Iowa 85-71.

McNeeley Meets Contender Jones

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tom McNeeley, the big brawler from Arlington, Mass., who was considered all washed up not too long ago, gets another crack at the big time tonight when he meets heavyweight contender Doug Jones at the New York Coliseum.

The strapping 26-year-old former football tackle is a 2-1 underdog to the second-ranked contender from New York. It is a 10-rounder.

McNeeley, a 205-pounder, was stopped in the fourth round of a title fight with then champion Floyd Patterson on Dec. 4, 1961. He's improved considerably and now has a 30-6 record, including 22 knockouts. He is not ranked.

Jones is risking two possible lucrative fights, an outdoor show in Stockholm against Patterson, and one with champion Sonny Liston.

His record is 22-4-1, including 16 knockouts.
